Classroom News

It has been another great week! We are really becoming a community as we learn about each other. We have been talking a lot about what a good friend says and does. We are working on solving problems with our words and getting help from a teacher when needed.

Kindergarten and 8th grade will host a school Mass on October 12th at 8:30. More details to come as that gets closer. I hope you will be able to join us to watch these little ones!

Our first Kinderkonzert is coming up on October 10th. We will need parent drivers from 9-10:30. If you are able to help, please sign up using Volgistics.

The conference schedule is attached to this email. If you haven't already signed up, please email me the slot you'd like. I look forward to talking with all of you about your children!

Curriculum Focus for Next Week

religion: We are reading the story of Noah's Ark and learning about the promise God made to Noah. We are also practicing being disciples of Jesus. The students have been thinking of acts that would be like Jesus- giving someone a turn, sharing, including others...

language arts: We are learning about strategies good readers do while reading or being read to. We are practicing thinking about what we read and talking about what we read.

In writers' workshop, we are developing resources so we can add more to our writing. We are practicing labeling pictures, stretching words to hear sounds, and using some high frequency words such as I, can, and see.

math: We are working on counting, number writing, and matching numbers to groups of objects. When we write numbers, we always start from the top.

science: We are assembling and disassembling things! We are working with many different types of materials to practice this. We are making observations and drawing conclusions about why some structures can hold weight and some can't!

Run 4 Cathedral is on Friday. We've gotten four forms back so far! If you have not brought in your form, please do so by Tuesday. Thank you so much for your support! The Run enables us to have art, go on fieldtrips, and bring some great community resources into the classroom.

On Run day, the kindergartners will do laps around the church and school with their 8th grade buddies. Students should wear the Run shirt sent home today and comfy bottoms to run in. The Run is providing a hot dog lunch; if your child would not like a hot dog, please send in a packed lunch.
